

The Sinclair group's decision to air the Kerry film just before the election does not meet the standards of objectivity and fairness that apply to broadcast companies, nor does it comply with election law or licensing law. I urge you to intervene by requiring Sinclair to drop this plan, or to air a balancing program such as "Going Upriver" or any of the available documentary material investigating President Bush's record in the National Guard.